A WORD FROM THE PASTOR...

Hello Church! I hope you're having a wonderful Summer week and are looking forward to our time together this Sunday!

AW Tozer wrote "Complacency is easy...and it is a deadly foe of spiritual growth."

It's easy for us as believers to get to a place in our spiritual walk where we're content with our sanctification progress. And when that happens, our desire to spend time in the Word and time in prayer will likely subside. And before we know it, our complacency will actually become a barrier to intimacy with our Lord. It's truly a situation where if you aren't moving forwards, you're moving backwards.

Don't give in to complacency. Continue to seek growth in your walk and understand that it won't just happen. You must take the time and make the effort to read and study and pray and listen. If those things are priorities in your life, the deadly foe of complacency will stay far from you.

Our text this Sunday morning is 1 Corinthians 11:2-16...so read up, and I'll see you Sunday!

Love y'all, Bro. Chris

MUSIC NOTES

During my years of schooling, there is no passage that I have read and studied more than Isaiah 6. It is a great passage on worship and I encourage you to take a few moments and read it again. Isaiah had gone through a very difficult time with the loss of his friend, King Uzziah. Grief, along with other issues, brings about a crisis of belief in our lives and it did in Isaiah. So how did he handle the crisis? He put his focus on the Lord (see Psalm 121) and his problems got smaller as God's greatness begin to fill his heart and mind. It was at that point, that Isaiah saw God as He truly is—a holy God without sin causing Isaiah to see his own sin he was filled with humility. He repented and God cleansed Isaiah from his sin but notice what was Isaiah's next response, (and I believe it is always the response of God's people when they truly worship God) he said "send me." In that moment, worship and evangelism collided in Isaiah's life. Loving God means surrendering to God and allowing God to send us (and use us) It's the heart of the book of James—I will show you my love for God by my works. John goes as far as to say that if we don't love others (and evangelism is how we love a lost world), we don't even know God. Wow, that seems a little harsh but it's still true.

My heart was stirred last Sunday night as I heard about mission trips from both Haiti and Brazil. I look forward to going on a future mission trip to Haiti and I hope you will consider it too. But we need to be "on mission" as individuals and a church today — not sometime in the future. God still has individuals that He wants me to share right here in our city — are my eyes open? Am I saying, "God, send me?" Are you? As I have thought this week about the correlation between worship and evangelism, I have come to this point—evangelism is a great "thermometer" for my relationship with Christ!

Let's worship Him together this week and follow the example of Isaiah and say, "God, send me! Use me!" That's living a life of worship! See you on Sunday, Randy!

Christy Hart will be serving as a missionary in East Asia with college students. Due to the secure nature of the work there, we will be unable to send letters to her. Please be in prayer for her over the next 8 weeks as she serves cross culturally.

THANK YOU

We want to thank our church family for the prayers, texts, cards and the delicious food you provided during and after my surgery. You are truly a blessing!
